PROJECTS

Sparkids. Built a full-stack E-Learning platform using Spring Boot and React.js. Designed and implemented robust, scalable RESTful APIs to manage course content and user data. Developed a secure user authentication system and integrated MongoDB database to handle scalable data, enabling features like course progress tracking and user profiles.

Radiation Dose Calculation Using Machine Learning. Implemented Monte Carlo simulations using Geant4 and Python to estimate radiation dose deposition from CT-derived voxelized data. Developed a pipeline for CT segmentation, Hounsfield Unit conversion, and density mapping to simulate x-ray interactions. Applied machine learning for automated tissue classification and improved computational efficiency of dose prediction.
